THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, SEPT. 4, 1869.

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH'S VISIT.

While we fully sympathise with the earlier protest against “toadism” which appeared some weeks since in the columns of the Japan Times, we much regret that a want of self-respect and experience has led its conductors into the opposite extreme, until its comments have degenerated into rudeness, if not scurrility. It is sincerely to be regretted that so generally able a man as Dr Williams should hold such language. He cannot but know that the majority will understand from his remarks that he believes the Burlingame mission to be on the side of progress. There is of course the possibility that he does mean this—in which case we can only sympathise with the United States Government in being so unfortunately represented. But we can hardly believe that such is his intention; but rather fancy that missionary zeal has run away with political conviction. We sincerely hope that such is the case.

The Peking Gazette of July 13 contains the first public admission on the part of the Chinese Government of the loss of its hold over the provinces of Chinese Turkestan. This is allowed to become known through the publication of a memorial by the Khan of the Southern Turkestan, who refers in the statement now published an interview with the Emperor at which he had represented the fact of the Mahomedan rising, and of the capture by the insurgents of all the cities of Sin Kiang (Chinese Turkestan). The Khan further admits that ill-success attended the encounters between the Mongol troops under his command and the Mahomedan forces, in consequence of which his tribes have been driven into the mountains for the last four years and are reduced to most miserable straits. There is no hope of recovering their former pasture grounds until a large army shall cross the frontier and subdue the Mahomedans. As he sees no immediate prospect of advance by the Imperial troops against Li, he begs permission to take up his residence at Peking with 37 of his followers of all ranks and hold himself at the Emperor's disposal for any duty until the prospect shall brighten nearer home. To this the Imperial assent is given.

On the other hand, the Imperial government in Shensi and Kansu, Tao Tsung-tang, reports the Province of Shensi to be completely set free from disturbance by the Mahomedan insurgents who have ravaged it for the last four or five years. Kansu alone now remains to be subdued. The literary examinations in Shensi, which have been interrupted since 1864, are forthwith to be proceeded with. The reduction of this Province is certainly an important success for the Chinese Government; and if Kansu can be cleared of rebellion, nothing will remain but the reconquest of Yunnan to complete the pacification of the entire Empire. This once accomplished, the last excuse for refraining from steps toward material progress will have disappeared.

A riotous was about a day or two since that the New Hotel lease or contract had changed hands, and that a comprador of no small influence was the contractor. A counter-rumour now goes the round that this has fallen through; that the old contractors continue the “pidgin” on more advantageous terms; and that this arrangement was come to by means somewhat different than generally obtains in Colonies under English rule. One party is said to have been much more forcible than per-durable. That rank has its penalties in the way described, we fully admit, and they must, in reason, be submitted to as a matter of policy and courtesy. But all men are mortal, and we scarcely wonder that at times the ill-bred demonstrativeness of the many led to a temporary forgetfulness of the necessity for meeting their wishes on public occasions.

We may fairly hope, however, that in this colony, common sense and real loyalty will combine to avoid errors of either taste or judgment. As connected with the German nation, the German residents will doubtless do their part in offering a cordial welcome. The Chinese will be glad to avail themselves of the chance for an additional fest. But Her Majesty's object in deputing the visit will be most fully attained by a séjour respecting welcome to her son.

We are exceedingly sorry to observe that so experienced and deservedly respected an authority upon Chinese matters as Dr. Williams could have seen fit, at a recent Missionary Conference in Peking, to state that “whatever may be the designation of politicians, the embassy which has long since left Peking to represent China at the seat of Government in the West is amongst the plans of Providence to bring this nation to the knowledge of the truth.” We are not of course aware of the precise sense in which the speaker used the words “Plans of Providence,” and can only accept them as conventionally understood. Of course in one sense the murder of a missionary, the beating of a foreign merchant, the placards denouncing foreigners generally, are parts of the “Plan” of Providence towards that ultimate millennium which most men presume will some day obtain—just as the fall of Satai may be placed in the same category. But we should rather look upon events such as these as negative elements, necessary perhaps, but beyond our finite comprehensions, in despite of which the “Plan,” which we must needs assume to be founded on love and mercy, is to be carried out. It would therefore seem highly injudicious, not to say wrong, to use such words of anything bad in itself. Yet Dr. Williams considers that a mission, deceitful in its basis, lying in its misrepresentations both of the state of China and of previous foreign policy, and fraught with immense evil in its possible results to commerce and the spread of Christianity, is part of the “plan” whereby China is to be rescued from the depths of paganism and semi-civilization!

It is sincerely to be regretted that so generally able a man as Dr. Williams should hold such language. He cannot but know that the majority will understand from his remarks that he believes the Burlingame mission to be on the side of progress. There is of course the possibility that he does mean this—in which case we can only sympathise with the United States Government in being so unfortunately represented. But we can hardly believe that such is his intention; but rather fancy that missionary zeal has run away with political conviction. “Consumer! you will find that this Khanaman's spatchcocks worth three taels. ‘Tis a farce in this run way.”

To eat a spatchcock twice a day.”

Another poet but a more modest man, (for he has refrained from appending his name to the effusion) pens a deprecatory stanza on the same exalting subject to the air of “Sendel Zitalla,” and then follows the Bishop of Victoria, whose “remark” on both effusions is: “These exceedingly wild verses regarding spatchcocks are not borne out by fact.” Perhaps the right rev. officer's liver was in better condition than O. R. C., and so he liked the spatchcocks; but to call the poet's verse “wild” is not at all amiable.

TO-DAY'S POLICE.

Mr Russell on the Bench.

An unemployed Chinese was charged by Sergeant Gowen with the usual offence so often committed at the Union Dock at Kowloon. The sergeant observed a prisoner leaving the Dock with the customary couple of baskets, and followed the suspicious individual. Prisoner mingled amongst a number of women who were gathering shellfish among the rocks, and pretended to be busily engaged in collecting limpets. The sergeant, however, was somewhat too wide awake for the Chinaman, and examined the basket, when, instead of limpets, he found a varied assortment of screw-boats, washers, and screw-nuts, of the value of about $20. Defendant stated that he found all these articles in cinders at a bush in the beach, and as he could not work, he devoted his attention to picking them up. He was fined 20/- for unlawful possession, and as he could not pay that sum, he was handed over to the care of the autho-rities for one month, with hard labor.

J. T. Sadler (P.C. 78) appeared as a defendant, being charged by a bricklayer employed at the City Hall. It appears that on Thursday evening, the bricklayer sat down on the Praya parapet near the City Hall to cool himself, with others, when defendant came up to him, and having first hit him on the cheek with the basin he carried, pushed him over the wall. Complainant fell on his back; and as the water was shallow at the time, he sprained his ankle and otherwise injured himself. The foreman of the workmen at the Hall fully corroborated this, and stated that he entered a complaint, having carefully taken the constable's number at the time, he saw the offence committed.—Inspector Ambrose, who took the charge, stated that the defendant, when brought to the Station, was unfit for duty; he was drunk, and appeared to have been very drunk some time before; his duty should have lasted till 12 o'clock midnight. In fact, when searched for on his beat, this lively constable was found behind a hedge in a deep drunken sleep.—Defendant stated that he was treated to some rum by sailors, and that he drank till he was nearly drunk. He admitted having pushed complainant, but he could not say whether it was the pitch of fear that knocked him over. He had told them to go away, and they had only laughed at him.—A paper was put in by Assist. Supt. Quin, detailing the many defaults which stood against defendant's name; and His Worship sentenced the prisoner. Sadler had to go to hard labor for six months, as he could not pay a fine of $200 imposed on him.

Before Mr. May, the six boatmen charged with the murder of Sergeant Maher at Bowkwan, were brought up on remand. Two witnesses were examined, and some LOCAL.

On Sunday last, the Rev. D. B. Morris intimated his intention to preach a sermon to-morrow evening, in the Congregational Church, on the subject of “Praying for the Dead.” We are requested to state that, in consequence of illness, the reverend gentleman is compelled to postpone the delivery of this special sermon until the evening of Sunday, the 12th.

SEVERAL interesting and novel little freaks of imagination are being indulged in regarding the probable (or rather improbable) movements of Prince Alfred, when he arrives in this “treasury of China.” Some great stress is laid upon the transcendental displays of fireworks, tinselled show, and terrible noise to be perpetrated by members of the German nation, the German residents will doubtless do their part in offering a cordial welcome. The Chinese will be glad to avail themselves of the chance for an additional fest. But Her Majesty's object in deputing the visit will be most fully attained by a séjour respecting welcome to her son.

The Chinese will be glad to avail themselves of the chance for an additional fest. But Her Majesty's object in deputing the visit will be most fully attained by a séjour respecting welcome to her son.

We may fairly hope, however, that in important corroborative evidence was elicited. They stated that they were employed on the stone-boat in which were the prisoners, and that over twenty Chinamen were taken on board a few days before the attack on Bowkwan took place; and they further asserted that they heard the first prisoner order those men on shore at Bowkwan on the night of the 17th (the evening of the attack and murder). Of the object of this midnight landing, they did not know; but they saw muskets, spears and stinkpots put into the sampan, in which they went on shore. They went in two trips, and the sampan was brought back to the boat. The same procedure was observed; when the men were brought back to the stone-junk; they came back in a sampan, and were taken on in two trips, between two and three o'clock in the morning.

Four of the prisoners were identified, as having been engaged in this midnight landing—The case was further remanded.

PRESENTATION OF A TABLET TO MR. WILSON, EX-SURVEYOR-GENERAL.

Mr. W. Wilson, the late Surveyor-General, was on Monday last waited upon at his office by the different Government Contractors, who have been working under him during the last six years, and was presented with a Tablet, or Screen, having on it the following inscription in Chinese characters:

“In the ancient time, when

China was in the service of the Minister of Works, he was very much praised on account of his introducing good habits.

From the ancient time up to the present, most of the famous officers have performed very good work, and have been praised by the public on their returning from the service to go to their native country.

“Mr. Wilberforce Wilson has been a Government Officer (Surveyor-General) in this Colony for a long time, and has during his service performed many good works.

“When he went out to superintend works, he did not mind the weather, and very often got wet and dry again, his hands and feet were never tired, and very often he breakfasted in the middle of the day and dressed at midnight, and he hardly seemed to know that he was becoming reduced in body. He was not only beneficial to the Government, but also merciful to the public.

“As he is now about to return to his country, we beg to avail ourselves of this opportunity to express our esteem for him and to endeavour to be of service to him.

“He picks up the moss and breaks the thorn.”

“As honest, pure, and attentive as possible.

“His hand and feet never feel tired.

“When Bruden's work is to be performed,

“His name is highly engraven.

“The yellow star is gone.

“Who is his successor?”

Reference has been made in my previous communications to comprador Achene, and it is but just to the old clasp to say that his American taipan, whom he served for over a score of years up to the time of the Arrow imbroglio, left him out in the cold in the matter of compensation for his property destroyed by the burning of Hongkong.—The Tablet was accompanied by some valuable presents, consisting of a silver cup, a screen, lacquered workbox, a Chinese shawl, and a pair of Tortoiseshell brushes.

After examining the presents, Mr. Wilson addressed the contractors through the Interpreter attached to the Surveyor-General's office.

“I heard some time back that you proposed presenting me with a Tablet in remembrance of my connection with you, but had not the least idea that it was to be accompanied by these very handsome presents. I beg to return you my best thanks for these marks of esteem and respect. It is nearly nine years since I first came to this colony. During this time, as you are aware, my energies have been entirely devoted to the good of the Public. I have been engaged in many large services which have been very successfully carried out, and in most cases even more successfully than those of the parson or soi, which is only attainable when the parson or soi is enriched with money and greatly fertilised with what is in Manchester is known as “Brass”—Anglo Gold. A man may make a million in Manchester, but he cannot make either mind or manners. The Prince and Princess of Teck, Earl Granville, and literally half the Duke in the kingdom, were present, in addition to the Prince and Princess of Wales; and one of the daily papers of an anti-slavery type speaks of the perfectly imperious beauty of the bride being born out by the motionless grace of her attitude,” which is tolerably glowing for a pretty-faced hoyden of about 18. After the ceremony the happy pair left for Orton Longueville, the seat of the Marquis in Huntingdonshire. He is a young man of 22, and premier Marquis in Scotland, his title dating back to 1859, and he being the eleventh Marquis. One feels sympathy with brains and good conduct, with courage when coupled with good birth and gentle manners; but with the prosperity of mere wealth, without the refining influence of one iota of good taste, culture, or generous action, it is impossible to be interested. Reporters may glow in cheap periodicals at this species of excellence, but all the enthusiasm one can feel is that the Marquis is fortunate to be able to enlarge his income so greatly, when gratifying his love, and to wish him prosperity.

LABOUR FOR CHRIST.

For the love of Christ, I have no time to do it. The soldiers are now in the field; the ploughman, who till the soil, the soldier goes to war. Who can tell us that we have the golden grain? And who can tell us that we have the golden grain?

"In God we trust."

China labour on. Through China labour, the angels cannot share. The young and old the Gospel gladness bear.

Earthly joys too swiftly fly.

China labour on.

The ploughmen are few, the field is wide. New nations must be filled, and blanks supplied. From voices distant far, or near at home,

The "Come!"

Come, labour on. The master is watching, night and day. To sow the tares, to snuff the seed away. While we in sleep our duty have forgon'dumbered not.

Come, labour on.

Away with gloomy doubts and faithless fear! No man so weak but may do something great. By foolish agents can our God fulfil.

His righteous will.

China labour on.

No time for rest, no time grows the western sky. While the long, long hours of toil, the setting sun,

China labour on.
